WAURIN'S CHRONICLES OF THE ENGLISH.

Now ready, in royal 8vo, pp. 456, price 10s., half-bound.

RECUEIL des CRONIQUEs et ANCIENNES HISTOIRES de la GRANT BRETAGNE, a present nomme ENGLETERRE (from A.D. 1400 to A.D. 1437). Par JEAN DE WAURIN, Seigneur du Forestal. Edited by WILLIAM HARDY, F.R.S., Deputy-Keeper of the Public Records; and published by the authority of the Lords Commissioners of H.M. Treasury, under the direction of the Master of the Rolls.

These two books of Waurin's Chronicle—a contemporary record of great historical interest and of undoubted authenticity, although unfortunately a fragment—deal with a stirring episode of French mediaeval annals, beginning with the death of Charles the Well-beloved in 1422, and include the career of Joan of Arc, to her execution at Rouen in 1431, which is related to the Duke of Burgundy in a letter from King Henry VI. (of England).

CONVERSATIONS WITH DISTINGUISHED PERSONS DURING THE SECOND EMPIRE.

FROM 1860 to 1863.

By the late NASSAU W. SENIOR.

Edited by his Daughter, M. C. M. SIMPSON.

"Mr. Senior's 'Conversations with M. Thiers, M. Guizot, &c., published about a year and a half ago, were the most interesting volumes of a series which had appeared up to that time, and these new 'Conversations' are hardly, if at all, less welcome and important. A large part of this delightful book is made up of studies by various critics, from divers points of view, of the character of Louis-Napoleon, and of more or less vivid and accurate explanations of his tortuous policy. The work contains a few extremely interesting reports of conversations with M. Thiers. There are some valuable reminiscences of Lamartine, and, among men of a somewhat later day, of Prince Napoleon, Drouyn de Lhuys, Montebello, Victor Cousin, Senais, and the Chevaliers."—Athenaeum.

DIARY of a TOUR in SWEDEN,

ETAGE for 1880. Under the Especial Patronage of HER MAJESTY. Corrected by the Nobility. Forty-ninth Edition. Royal 8vo, with the Arms beautifully engraved, 31s. 6d., bound gilt edges.

"This work is the most perfect and elaborate record of the living and recently deceased members of the Peerage of the Three Kingdoms as it stands at this day. It is a most useful publication. We are happy to bear testimony to the fact that scrupulous accuracy is a distinguishing feature of this book."—Times.

YOUNG LORD PENRITH. By

JOHN BERVICK HARWOOD, Author of "Lady Flavin," &c. 3 vols.

"An interesting and well-told story. The plot is exciting and yet natural. The character of Penrith is very well conceived and worked out, and Maud, the heroine, is a most charming young lady."—Post.

"The story of 'Young Lord Penrith' makes pleasant reading. The style is easy and fluent, and the interest well sustained."—Examiner.

IN the SWEET SPRING-TIME.

By Mrs. MACQUOID, Author of "Patty," "Diane," &c. 3 vols.

"A most interesting story, written in Mrs. Macquoid's best style. It abounds with dramatic situations, and is not wanting in pathos and humour. It is a delightful and refreshing book, in every way deserving of popularity and worthy of its author's reputation."—Post.

"Mrs. Macquoid's new story is a graceful and artistic piece of work, pleasantly readable."—Academy.

"A bright and pleasant tale."—Scotsman.

FRIEND and LOVER. By Iza

DUFFUS HARDY. 3 vols.

"A powerful story, well worth reading. The plot is ingenious, original, and yet perfectly natural. Miss Hardy's sketches of character are truthful, vivid, and exceedingly graphic. It is decidedly one of the best-written books of the season."—Post.

MONTHLY PARTS, price 7d.,

TO BE COMPLETED IN 34 PARTS,

THE NEW TESTAMENT COMMENTARY FOR ENGLISH READERS.

Edited by C. J. ELLICOTT, D.D., Lord Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol.

Part 1 ready March 24, 1880.

EXTRACTS FROM THE PREFACE.

"THE present Commentary may in many respects claim to be considered as new in its design and construction, and as an attempt to supply a need which has been long and seriously felt by meditative readers of God's Holy Word.

"We have at present no Commentary of the New Testament which addresses itself especially to that large and increasing class of cultivated English readers who, believing the Holy Scriptures to be what an ancient writer has defined them to be—'the true sayings of the Holy Ghost'—and knowing and feeling them to be living and abiding words, desire to realise them, and to be able intelligently to apply them to their daily wants and to the general context of life around them. This class largely includes those who are unable to read the Holy Scriptures in their original languages, and to whom the many valuable commentaries, based on the original text, which this country and Germany now freely supply, are unavailing and inaccessible. And yet, even if they could read them, they would hardly find in them all they want.

"No class feel more sensibly the need of this vital element in the interpretation of Holy Scripture than the large and intelligent body of thoughtful men and women to which we are especially addressing ourselves. They feel the storm and stress of intellectual difficulties; they realise, often vividly and acutely, the trials to which the childlike faith of early days is now being increasingly subjected; they see old landmarks disappearing, old truths undergoing modification and change, and, in their deep anxiety, they turn, with the true and deep instinct of the Christian soul, to that which they feel inwardly changes not—the enduring and abiding Word of God. They turn to it; and it speaks to them, for it is a living Word; but its consolations are often only imperfectly appreciated, its truths far from fully realised, its promises very inadequately recognised to be the true moving principles of a pure, chivalrous, self-denying, and holy life. They need the sympathetic interpreter. They need one to guide them who has thought as they think, who feels as they feel—one who, from no mere ecclesiastical standpoint, or the supposed vantage-ground of some half-selfish theological adjustment, but simply from the reverent, loving, and prayerful study of the Book of Life, sets forth to them its ever fresh truths, its ever new aspects, its ever pertinent and timely consolations. Such is the commentator and such the commentary that is now more than ever needed by the earnest general reader in these closing years of a progressive and eventful century.

"It is for these interested readers of God's Holy Word that this Commentary has been more especially composed. Though, as has been already said, the deep needs of those who have not yet realised the Book to be what it is have ever been present to our minds; and though every effort has been made indirectly to set forth that greatest of all evidential arguments, the deep life of the written Word, to each truth-seeking and unbiassed reader, yet our chief thought has been for those who desire more fully to realise that in which, by the mercy of God, they have never been tempted to doubt. How many there are who are now earnestly seeking for that which we are here endeavouring to present to them! The student of Holy Scripture, the Christian father of the family where God's Word is loved and revered, the upgrowing children, the teacher in the Sunday-school or the instructor of the Bible-class, and, last and chief of all, that large class of English readers who feel themselves more and more drawn to God's Word by the very restlessness of the times in which they are living. All these, and such as these, are now earnestly craving to have Scripture brought home to their hearts, and that, too, not merely by interpretation of difficulties, but by meditative comments—comments of our time and age, comments that help to make the Book, not only better understood, not only more revered, but more and more loved, more and more felt to be life to the inner soul as well as light to the appreciative mind."

"It is written, as it professes to be, in the interests of the truth, and under the strong conviction that piety alone is no substitute for logic. The book is admirably printed, and its contents so arranged as to be thoroughly and easily accessible to the student; and a greater boon to students of the New Testament than this Commentary has never, we believe, been published in England."—Spectator.

"Never before has so much aid been rendered to Biblical students who, not being scholars by profession, wish to penetrate below the surface, to mark the substantial unity of the inspired narrative amidst much superficial variation, and to understand the grounds upon which the existing canon of sacred Scripture has been received in the Christian Church."—Saturday Review.

"It would be hard to conceive a work that should do more to correct and expand popular opinion as to the true nature of the New Testament."—Academy.

"This work is a real gain to English Christendom. It will be welcomed by thousands as a help tendered by learning to religion."—Contemporary Review.

THE FORBIDDEN LAND: Voyages to the Corea, by G. OPPERT. With Illustrations and Map.

"Here, then, is the phenomenon of a population of 16,000,000 without a history, and inhabiting a land which has been for centuries a sealed book to European research. It will be easily guessed, therefore, that Mr. Oppert's book has an interest distinctly unique among later books of travel. . . . It is offered as a picture of an unknown country, and very admirably and faithfully fulfils its end."—Mayfair.
"Deeply interesting."—Literary World.

SECOND EDITION.

LIFE and WRITINGS of HENRY

THOMAS BUCKLE. Author of "The History of Civilization." By ALFRED HENRY HUTH. In 2 vols., demy 8vo, cloth extra, with Two Steel Engraved Portraits of Buckle, 32s.
"Mr. Huth has done his part of these volumes well and thoroughly."—Saturday Review.
"Buckle was a man whose story must excite interest and rouse sympathy."—Scotsman.
"Mr. Huth's book, which seems to be written with rare sincerity, shows us the man as he was, not the philosopher as he was supposed to be."—Saturday Review.

Now ready, demy 8vo, cloth extra, 10s. 6d.

A FOOL'S ERRAND. By One of the FOOLS.

"This is an able little book. . . . Will be read with interest and not a little astonishment. The Fool responsible for the narrative has a good deal to tell, and he tells it in such a manner as to be always picturesque and impressive. . . . Everyone should read the book. . . . The Fool is a competent and clever student of character. . . . Singularly commendable."—Athenaeum.

GRIMM (JACOB), TEUTONIC MYTHOLOGY. Translated from the Fourth Edition by J. S. STALLYBRASS. In 3 vols. Vol. I, demy 8vo, cloth, 15s.

"The author's main aim in this work is to demonstrate the substantial identity of the ancient religious systems of all the Teutonic nations. . . . History, legend, tradition, tale, and song are all pressed into his service, and compelled to yield their quota of evidence."—Scotsman.

"So nearly complete, and so nearly exhaustive, that Grimm's successors can hardly hope to discover anything new in the field he has cultivated. . . . The work deserves nothing but praise, and the translation is most conscientious and written in excellent English."—Examiner.

STUDIES in PHYSICAL SCIENCE.

The Sun; Transit of Venus; Spectral Analysis; the Moon; the Stars and Planets; Comets and Meteors; Atmospheric Electricity; Whirlwinds; Glaciers; the Telephone. By W. J. MILLAR, C.E., Secretary to the Institution of Engineers and Shipbuilders in Scotland; Author of "Principles of Mechanics," &c.

"We can confidently recommend Mr. Millar's volume to the attention both of teachers in search of an elementary text-book, and to private students, as well as to the general reader. It unites the utmost lucidity with strict scientific accuracy, and deals with ascertained facts rather than with vague theories."—Greenock Daily Telegraph.

"This work consists of chapters from several sciences—astronomy, electricity, heat, light, &c. They cover a good deal of ground, and include objects as wide apart as whirlwinds and spectrum analysis, glaciers and the telephone."—Liverpool Albion.

NATIONAL SOCIETY'S NEW PUBLICATIONS.

A NEW SERIES OF MANUALS ON TEACHING.

Price 8d. each.

This Series, which will be ready shortly, will embrace the subjects of Schedule IV. (New Code), viz. :—

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1. English Literature. | 5. Physical Geography. |
| 2. Languages (including Latin, French, and German). | 6. Botany. |
| 3. Mechanics. | 7 & 8. Domestic Economy (Two Branches, in sep. vols.). |
| 4. Animal Physiology. | 9. The Training of Pupil Teachers. |

These Manuals have been written by men distinguished as much for their general attainments as for their special knowledge of the subjects they have treated. Being also men of wide experience, either as teachers or examiners, they have been able carefully to adapt these books to the wants of teachers and the capacities of the pupils.

The chief aim of these Manuals is to show how the different subjects of Schedule IV. may be taught to children; they are not intended to supersede the use of Text-Books on these subjects. They will, nevertheless, be found to contain much information, and such as is not always found in the ordinary Text-Book.

The Teacher's Manuals of the Science and Art of Teaching.

INCLUDING TWO SERIES OF INDEPENDENT MANUALS.

The First Series, which relates to the SCIENCE of Teaching, consists of—

1. The Cultivation of the Senses. Price 8d.
2. The Cultivation of the Memory. Price 6d.
3. On the Use of Words. Price 8d.
4. On Discipline. Price 8d.
5. On Class Teaching. Price 6d.

The Second Series, which relates to the ART of Teaching, consists of—

1. How to Teach Grammar. Price 8d.
2. Arithmetic, and How to Teach it. Price 8d.
3. How to Teach Geography. Price 6d.
4. How to Teach History. Price 8d.
5. How to Teach Reading and Writing. Price 8d.
6. How to Teach by Means of Apparatus. Price 8d.

Both Series of Manuals can now be had complete in One Handsome Volume, 8vo, 568 pp., with Copious Index, 5s. 6d.

ALSO,

LINES FROM THE POETS. With Notes.

For Use in Elementary and Secondary Schools. Adapted to the Requirements of the New Code, and the First Four of them also to the Oxford and Cambridge Local Examinations.

This Series of Poetry Books is intended, not only for use in School, but also for Home use and for Private Study. The Notes are simple, and at the same time sufficiently exhaustive to secure an intelligent knowledge of the subject. It is hoped these books will considerably lighten the teacher's work of explanation, and thus commend themselves for use, not only in Elementary Schools, but also in Schools of a somewhat higher class.

THE FOLLOWING ARE NOW READY:—

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1. Scott's Lady of the Lake (Canto I.). 369 lines, 2d. | 5. A Selection from Shakespeare's King John . 393 lines, price 2d. |
| 2. Goldsmith's Traveller . 438 lines, price 2d. | 6. A Selection from Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice . 853 lines, price 3d. |
| 3. Goldsmith's Deserted Village . 430 lines, price 2d. | |
| 4. Byron's Siege of Corinth . 1,080 lines, price 4d. | |

Other Selections from Classic English Authors will shortly be published.

N.B.—1. In addition to the Notes, each Book contains a Life of the Author, an Argument of the Poem, and a Set of Exercises in Grammar and Composition. 2. Pupil Teachers will find these Books very useful in preparing for their Examinations. They are also well suited to the requirements for English Literature (Schedule IV.). 3. They may also be used as a Set of Poetical Reading Books.

JUST PUBLISHED.

THE PUPIL TEACHER'S COURSE OF MATHEMATICS.

By a late Fellow and Senior Mathematical Lecturer; Examiner for the Oxford and Cambridge Board, the Cambridge Syndicate, &c.

Part I.—EUCLID. Books I. and II.

With Notes, Examples, and Explanations. Price 1s. 6d.

This is the First Part of a Course of Mathematics especially written for Pupil Teachers, whose course includes Two Books of Euclid, Algebra to the end of Quadratic Equations, and the Mensuration of Plane Surfaces. The best editions of Euclid comprehend several books, and are therefore unnecessarily bulky and expensive for Pupil Teachers; moreover, the notes and explanations in them are scanty, and for the most part adapted to a more advanced class of students, and the examples are not graduated sufficiently. The Author, who has seen many thousands of mathematical papers worked by Pupil Teachers and Public School boys, has endeavoured in his notes and hints to guard against the common difficulties and errors; and it is hoped that not only Pupil Teachers, but also all others who are commencing the study of Geometry, will find this little book useful.

Part II.—ALGEBRA. Price 1s. 6d.

The Second Part contains all the Rules of Algebra which Pupil Teachers are required to study, with numerous examples and explanations. Great care has been taken to give the proof of each rule in as clear and simple a form as possible; and the illustrations and examples have been selected so as to meet every case of difficulty which boys experience. Though specially written for Pupil Teachers, it is hoped that this little book may be useful to all other beginners.
